Can wounds heal again

it was early in the morning when Clarke woke up she got out of bed and go to the shower one's out of her sleeping clothes she step in the shower let the water wash over her when her body is clean she takes the towel around her body and go to her closet she pick blue v t-shirt and skinny blue jeans dressed herself she walks back to her bed for her fathers horloge and do it on her wrist she see that it is 7:30 her class begins till 9:00

Still time

She walks out her room and go to the kitchen for a coffie her two best friends are still sleeping she get herself a drink and go to the counter and let herself sit on the barstool and quietly sipping her coffee

Clarke has a hard few months 3months ago her and her dad had a car accident her dad died in the hospital and she had few glass wounds and broken arm

The blonde is still blaming herself for what happend with him if she was not joking with her dad and not poking him that car from the other road had not drive toward them and her dad had not be killed now her mom don't talk to her anymore she is happy that her two best friends still talk too her she was still sipping on her coffee and deep in her thoughts that she does not hear her two roommates in the kitchen when she feels slight a hand on her schoulder that she jumps a little and look to her friend

Wow princess deep in thoughts"her best friend raven asked as she get a coffee for her and for octavia clarke take a deep breath and sigh

"Sorry alot on my mind"said clarke and look back in her cup the two girls studie the blonde face raven and octavia knows what the blonde has in her mind

When begin you're class"octavia asked let changing the topic.

Clarke look to her horloge and see that she has to go she jump from the barstool and run to her room and shouted"Now!

Raven and octavia was laughing

The blonde runs to the door and gone is she

Clarke was running down the hall

In school for her first class and she was late and she bumped into someone and let the books fall from the one that she bump into

"Oh-oh I'm so sorry,I didn't see you"clarke said and bend down to help the person with her books clarke pick up two books and stand back on her feet and turn her gaze to the person her breath stuck in her throat the person she bump into is a girl like her age green eyes brown braid hair strong jawline she is beautifull"_clarke stop staring maybe she thinks that you are a creep now__-

It is nothing"said the stranger and shift on her feet and point with her finger to the books still in the blonde's hands"can I get my books back

Clarke chuckles and laughs a little"ooh yes here you go"she give the books back to the girl when the girl had her books back the two where still looking to each other blue meet green eyes

The brunette clears her throat and point behind her as she stap away"hmmm I'm going to my class"

Clarke smiled a little and nods her head"yeah I have to go too that way"point her finger to her right little nervous the brunnette smiled and waved with her hand and walk away let the blonde free in the hall clarke run back down the hall and mutters to herself
